MANTLE-PALOOZA!

While we don't often have the highest grade examples of Mickey Mantle we do almost always have a great selection of attractive mid-grade Mantles that the average collector can afford. Mix that in with a few low grade "bargain" Mantles and almost all of our Post WWII auctions could be seen as a Mantle-palooza!

The modern-day chase for parallels of certain players through public releases seems hard enough but add a short print redemption into the mix… a proverbial Mount Everest trek is ahead. That goes double, or hundreds of thousands, for some Shohei Ohtani rookie cards.

In 2018, Topps produced just 25 Bowman Chrome Rookie Autographs Orange Refractor #BCRA-SO Shohei Ohtani cards as an exclusive item. As Ohtani has racked up individual and team MLB honors, his card prices have soared. During a Goldin Auctions event on Sept. 27, 32 bids plus a buyer's premium got a BGS 9.5 up to $347,700. Beckett has graded 23 of the Rookie Autographs Orange Refractors with only one receiving a Black Label 10.

ROUNDTABLE DISCUSSION:

WHAT IS A VINTAGE SPORTS CARD?

AUTHORS: MIKE PAYNE, ANDREW HARNER, AND RYAN WRIGHT

1952 Topps #311 Mickey Mantle

For most collectors, vintage can be described similarly to beauty – you know it when you see. Within the hobby, vintage sports cards are a subject of debate, or more importantly – what makes a card "vintage." Where and/or when to draw the vintage line goes beyond an opinion with financial implications adding value to a piece of cardboard with four sharp corners. And to no surprise, each generation has varying thoughts on the topic.

Beckett classification for vintage sports cards, simply put, 1980 and older, as one can see in the almanacs, Beckett grading services, and Beckett books. But as many have come upon, especially more recently on secondary markets, a public shift in what is vintage is taking place, not only seeing 1980s cards selling as vintage but 1990s cardboard as well.

MIKE PAYNE

I generally consider vintage to roll up to and include 1985, as those cards are now 40 years old. And at that point in time, cards were not being grossly over-produced. There still seemed to be an air of collectability to the hobby back then – a very vintage notion these days, indeed.

What I consider vintage may not be what you consider it. And that can change from sport to sport. For instance, I can't imagine 1986 Fleer Basketball not being considered vintage. Groundbreaking set and released during the short-shorts era of the game when Michael Jordan was just beginning his journey. But 1986 Topps Baseball? Nope.

It's just the way I view it.

Vintage timelines will change as time passes. Our views will, too. Forty years from now, will anything released in 2025 be considered vintage? Like now, it will likely be viewed differently from collector to collector, but 40 years is a long time.

If people can be considered vintage at age 40, why not cards?

ANDREW HARNER

When I first attended the National Sports Collectors Convention as a teenager in 2001, I found a dealer with a box of vintage baseball cards priced for $1 each. I dug all the way to the bottom of the bin looking for the oldest card I could find – which turned out to be a beat-up 1951 Bowman Eddie Joost #119. The dealer was impressed that someone my age was interested in vintage cards, so after we struck up a conversation about my purchases, he let me pick another card for free and told me to keep appreciating the vintage hobby.

One of my favorite subsections within my personal collection has always been vintage cards, which growing up meant to me any card that was at least 20 years old. I even once proclaimed that I was going to start keeping all of my cards because they would all someday be 20 years old and, therefore, vintage. But spurred by this dealer's kindness and wisdom, I outgrew the 20-year vintage parameter and developed the definition of vintage I still follow today.

In the dealer's vintage dollar bin, the newest cards I saw were from the colorful 1975 Topps set. Because he got me thinking more about vintage collecting, I wondered if 1975 was a cutoff date commonly accepted within the industry. After making several inquiries on primitive online message boards, most collectors responded that they considered vintage cards as anything printed before 1980, so I began using that date as my own vintage measuring stick and have never looked back.

Is this vintage?

RYAN WRIGHT

Growing up, my understanding and idea of vintage was largely informed by American cars. We had a sweet white over candy apple red 1957 Ford Fairlane – vintage. Going to car shows seeing a 1966 Ford Mustang, a 1967 Stingray Corvette, and a 1968 Camaro – all considered vintage.

At the time, the 1977 Pontiac Firebird Trans Am was not vintage, but it was a "classic."

The other thing that helped inform my idea on vintage as a child was antiques. The common number thrown around for an antique was 25 years or older.

Having collecting cards for… we'll say a few decades now, my line for vintage baseball has been 1969 sets and older. The oddity, I would separate football, basketball, and hockey from baseball seeing the other sports cards as vintage if from the 1970s, more so the early to mid-1970s.

Over the last year, as I have seen more people put 1970s Topps baseball cards on secondary markets as vintage, I have come to adopt that philosophy. There is something about those cards in their simplicity and miscut ways that scream an era gone by.

The new conundrum for me, where is the vintage line now? Is it 1979 or into the 1980s?

Too young to care about mass production at the time, 1986 Topps baseball, 1983 Topps football, and 1987-88 Fleer basketball sets, for whatever reason, are my personal line on vintage for those sports. But I have not listed or spoken about a 1980s card as vintage… yet.

AMONG THE GREATEST SEASONS EVER?

Cal Raleigh Broke Traditional MLB Norms in 2025

BY RYAN WRIGHT

2023 Finest Purple Pink Vapor Refractors #99 Cal Raleigh

GETTY IMAGES

Cal Raleigh broke baseball during the 2025 season in the best way possible. If you are a statistic-minded person, the complexity of what the Seattle Mariners catcher did during his fourth full season in the league will have you arguing against yourself while pulling your hair out. Pulling back from the measurables, "The Big Dumper" crushed numerous single-season records set by Hall of Famers and did it all as a full-time catcher in what was one of the greatest individual seasons ever.

If your go-to psychic predicted during spring training that Raleigh would lead Major League Baseball in home runs; let's connect for the next Super Bowl and Kentucky Derby. Coming off a career-high 34 dingers in 2024, the thought of Raleigh crushing 26 more long balls was not in the realm of possibility. After all, the record of 45 for a catcher was set by Johnny Bench as a 22-year-old in 1970.

GETTY IMAGES

Historical context, Bench hit 45 homers in 1970 but 38 of those were as a catcher. Mike Piazza twice blasted 40 (1997, 1999), Roy Campanella hit 41 total in 1953, 40 batting as a catcher, Todd Hundley knocked out 41 in 1996, and Javy Lopez went deep 43 times in all in 2003, 42 appearing as a backstop. By the headlines, Raleigh did pass the mark set by Royals catcher Salvador Perez in 2021. But only 33 of Perez's 48 dingers were as a catcher.

However one slices it, Raleigh is the new single-season home run king of the catchers nailing 49 as a backstop and 11 as a DH or pinch hitter. For the 100-plus years MLB has been open for business, only seven players have reached 60 bombs in a season with the feat being accomplished 10 times. Furthermore, Raleigh was just two long balls shy of tying New York Yankees outfielder Aaron Judge for the AL single-season record.

Fittingly, Raleigh became the first catcher to win the Home Run Derby in 2025.

Defensively, Raleigh won his first Gold Glove and Platinum Glove in 2024 and was a standout again in 2025 committing just four errors in 1,106 chances with 1,060 putouts.

On the way to having one of the best seasons ever at the plate by a position player, Raleigh set a new HR record for switch hitters passing Hall of Famer Mickey Mantle (54). He also broke the M's single season record for long balls passing Ken Griffey Jr. (56). On a smaller but still important note, The Big Dumper now holds the Mariners' career record for home runs hit by a catcher (153) passing Mike Zunino at 95.

Adding to the legacy, the prolific season tied into something of meaning; the Mariners won the AL West for the first time since 2001.

For those that lean heavily on other statistical measures, Raleigh had a solid season but not an all-time campaign. Even though he led the AL in RBI (125) while producing 110 runs, his 7.3 WAR in 2025 ties him at 494th among position players all-time for an individual season.

To shed light in a different direction, in 1972 Boston Red Sox catcher Carlton Fisk produced a 7.3 WAR while winning AL Rookie of the Year. That year, Fisk hit .293 with 22 HR, 61 RBI, and scored 74 runs.

Which 7.3 WAR season would you rather have?

MILESTONE SEASON MOVES

2017 Immaculate Collection #113 Aaron Judge JSY AU RC

If a player is talented enough, and lucky enough, to be considered an all-time New York Yankee, chances are said player is also among Major League Baseball's greats. The century-plus success of the Highlanders and Yankees has shaped MLB producing stars in every era. Ascending the statistical ranks, and in consideration among the Bronx Bombers' all-time best, is Aaron Judge.

Iconic Pinstripers are revered in MLB history, and Aaron Judge is now firmly among the franchise's elite. From the Murderers' Row in 1927, to the Bronx Bombers in the 1950s and the "Evil Empire" of the late '90s and early 2000s, the New York franchise has appareled position players Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, Mickey Mantle, Elston Howard, Derek Jeter, Yogi Berra, Phil Rizzuto, Willie Randolph, Thurman Munson, Bernie Williams, Don Mattingly, Alex Rodriguez and many-many more.

When Judge completed the 2025 season, his career numbers passed and are now close to passing legends of the game.

THE CAREER AT A GLANCE

Winning Rookie of the Year in 2017 put high expectations on Judge going forward. The '17 campaign led the league in home runs (52), runs (128), and walks (127) while knocking in 114 with a .284 batting average. Injuries slowed Judge from 2018 through 2020, but in 2021 he had a bounce back year slugging 39 dingers with a .287 average.

What fans had waited for happened in 2022, Judge hit .311 with a league leading and franchise record setting, 62 homers. Judge also led the league in WAR (10.8), runs (133), and RBI (131) to earn his first MVP award.

Entering the 2023 schedule, Judge was named the Yankees 16th team captain, the first team captain since Derek Jeter retired (1995-2014). More injuries slowed Judge in 2023, appearing in 106 games. In 2024, Judge returned to his MVP form hitting .322 with 58 home runs, 144 RBI, a 1.159 OPS, and a 10.8 WAR, all league leading accomplishments.

THE 2025 SEASON

The 2025 effort was on par with his MVP seasons, leading the league in batting (.331), walks (124), intentional walks (36), runs scored (137), and WAR (9.7).

Leading the Majors in batting average, slugging and on-base percentage had not been accomplished since Miguel Cabera in 2012 with the Detroit Tigers. Judge also became the third player to lead the league in home runs while winning a batting title – Mantle (1956) and Jimmie Foxx (1936). Taking 36 intentional walks broke the AL record of 33 set in 1957 by Ted Williams and tied by John Olerud in 1993 with the Toronto Blue Jays.

Judge joined a short list of Yankees to lead the league in batting: 1924 Ruth (.378), 1934 Gehrig (.363), 1939 DiMaggio (.381), 1940 DiMaggio (.352), 1945 Snuff Stirnweiss (.309), 1956 Mantle (.353), 1984 Mattingly (.343), 1994 Paul O'Neil (.359), 1998 Williams (.339), and 2020 DJ LeMahieu (.364).

The 2025 season saw Judge move past Rodriguez (351), Berra (358), and DiMaggio (361) on the Yankees all-time HR list, now just 125 behind Gehrig for third most.

Of all the great Yankee players, just 14 have won MVP honors a total of 24 times. The multiple winners include DiMaggio (3), Berra (3), Mantle (3), Roger Maris, Rodriguez, and Judge.

BASEBALL, BRIXTON DISC GOLF, AND CARD COLLECTING WITH PADRES SP DYLAN CEASE

BY MATTHEW SEARLE

Dylan Cease etched his name into the baseball record books on July 25, 2024, when he threw the second no-hitter in San Diego Padres history. The right-hander has been a model of durability on the diamond, leading all of baseball in games started and strikeouts since 2021. But while Cease's profile has risen in recent years, he still makes time for hobbies like card collecting. He talked about his collecting habits on a recent visit with the Padres to New York.

Cease has always seen cards and memorabilia as a way to connect with history and culture. His personal collection, still in its early stages, includes more than just baseball cards. It spans different sports and even other types of collectibles: he once acquired a Gold Star Charizard Pokémon card that he later traded, and he has accumulated several LeBron James rookie cards over the years. Cease's passion for the hobby inspired him to stream videos of himself and one of his friends doing card rips and breaks online.

lection, Cease says he is hunting for vintage baseball cards, especially graded cards with signatures. He is also hoping to collect more LeBron and Michael Jordan cards. According to Cease, "I just haven't gotten to the point where I'm ready to drop $30 grand on a card, you know? When I get to that point, I'll be buying some of the stuff out there that's wild – some of the Kobe signed stuff and all that is cool."

Cease also owns cards of himself, though they were gifts rather than purchases. Said Cease, "My uncle sent me one of what feels like every card (of me) ever made. Some of my family's been collecting since I started. I have a lot of my own cards, but I haven't bought them personally."

Beyond collecting, Cease owns equity in a disc golf trading card company called Brixton Disc Golf. Described by Cease as "kind of like the Topps of disc golf," the fledgling company is still building its brand. While he admits that baseball card companies have had a 100-year head start in refining the card production process, Cease says the basic template remains the same for sports like disc golf. The cards made by Brixton feature player stats and signature features like game-used discs that make them appeal to hobbyists.

Dylan Cease will enter free agency this winter, creating some uncertainty about his baseball future. No matter where he lands, one can expect him to continue pursuing his passions away from the diamond.

HOW COLLECTOR MARTY SALISBURY TURNED LIFE STORIES INTO A SPORTS CARD SHOP

BY MIKE SCOTT

Marty Salisbury is a sports card collector who is less worried about the value of his cards and more interested in what they mean to him. In fact, many of his prized cards harken back to a personal event or time in his life that he remembers fondly recounting at any time.

Take his 1989 Score #257 Barry Sanders rookie card.

Salisbury's wife, Andrea, was pregnant with their first son, Luke. Since Andrea was, like many pregnant women, uncomfortable sitting for long stretches of time, the couple took a ride to walk around a sports card show one afternoon about 30 years ago in mid-Michigan, where they lived then and now.

"Imagine that my wife is pregnant and the place I take her to is a sports card show," Salisbury says with a laugh.

He bought a few cards and packs. But the card that stood out in his rip was the Sanders rookie, a young player on Salisbury's favorite football team, the Detroit Lions.

"That was just so cool," Salisbury says. "It's still part of my collection today." He estimates it would probably be graded a 9 or 10, making the value well over $1,000. But it will never leave his personal collection.

"It's here to stay," he says.

Salisbury first began collecting as a youngster and went through peaks and valleys of collecting between his teenage years and the time that Andrea and he raised a family. But when he was in a collecting phase, Salisbury went all in. His favorite all-time card is the 1976 Walter Payton Topps rookie, a remarkable statement for a diehard Lions fan.

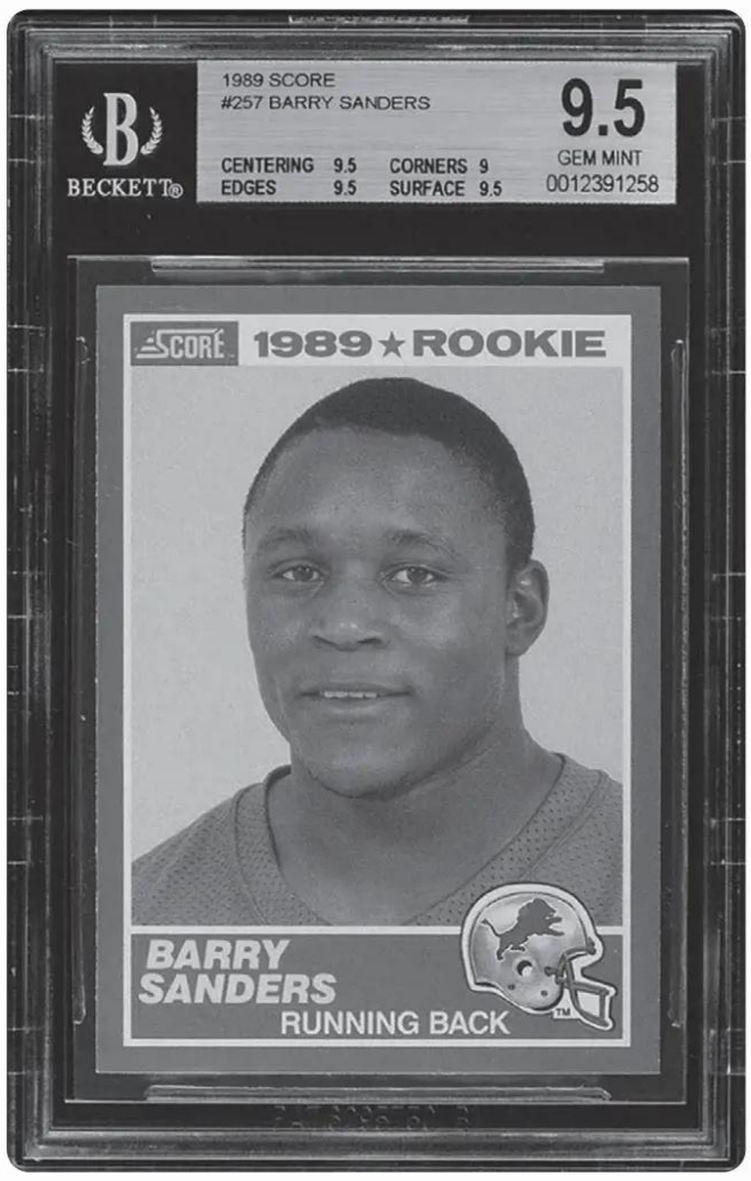
His father Keith actually met Chicago Bear Mike Dikta and got the Hall of Famer to sign a 1964 Philadelphia Ditka card with an "Iron Mike" signature. That card always reminds Salisbury of his father, who has since passed and is another permanent part of his collection.

"I look at that and other cards every day," he said.

That's because in May 2024 Salisbury opened his own brick-and-mortar sports card shop, Private Stock Hobby Shop, in a strip mall in Midland, Mich. Salisbury had recently retired from a long career working in manufacturing for die-cast and related companies in engineering, sales and purchasing. But his career as an entrepreneur was just beginning.

Looking over his huge collection of sports cards, one that was so large it even caught him by surprise, Salisbury decided he could make it a semi-retirement job. He thought running a sports card store might earn a few bucks, but he wanted it to be a labor of love as well.



1989 Score #257 Barry Sanders RC

"I wasn't ready to quit working, but I wanted a place where collectors could come to hang out and have fun," Salisbury said. "We could talk about sports and cards and rip open packs."

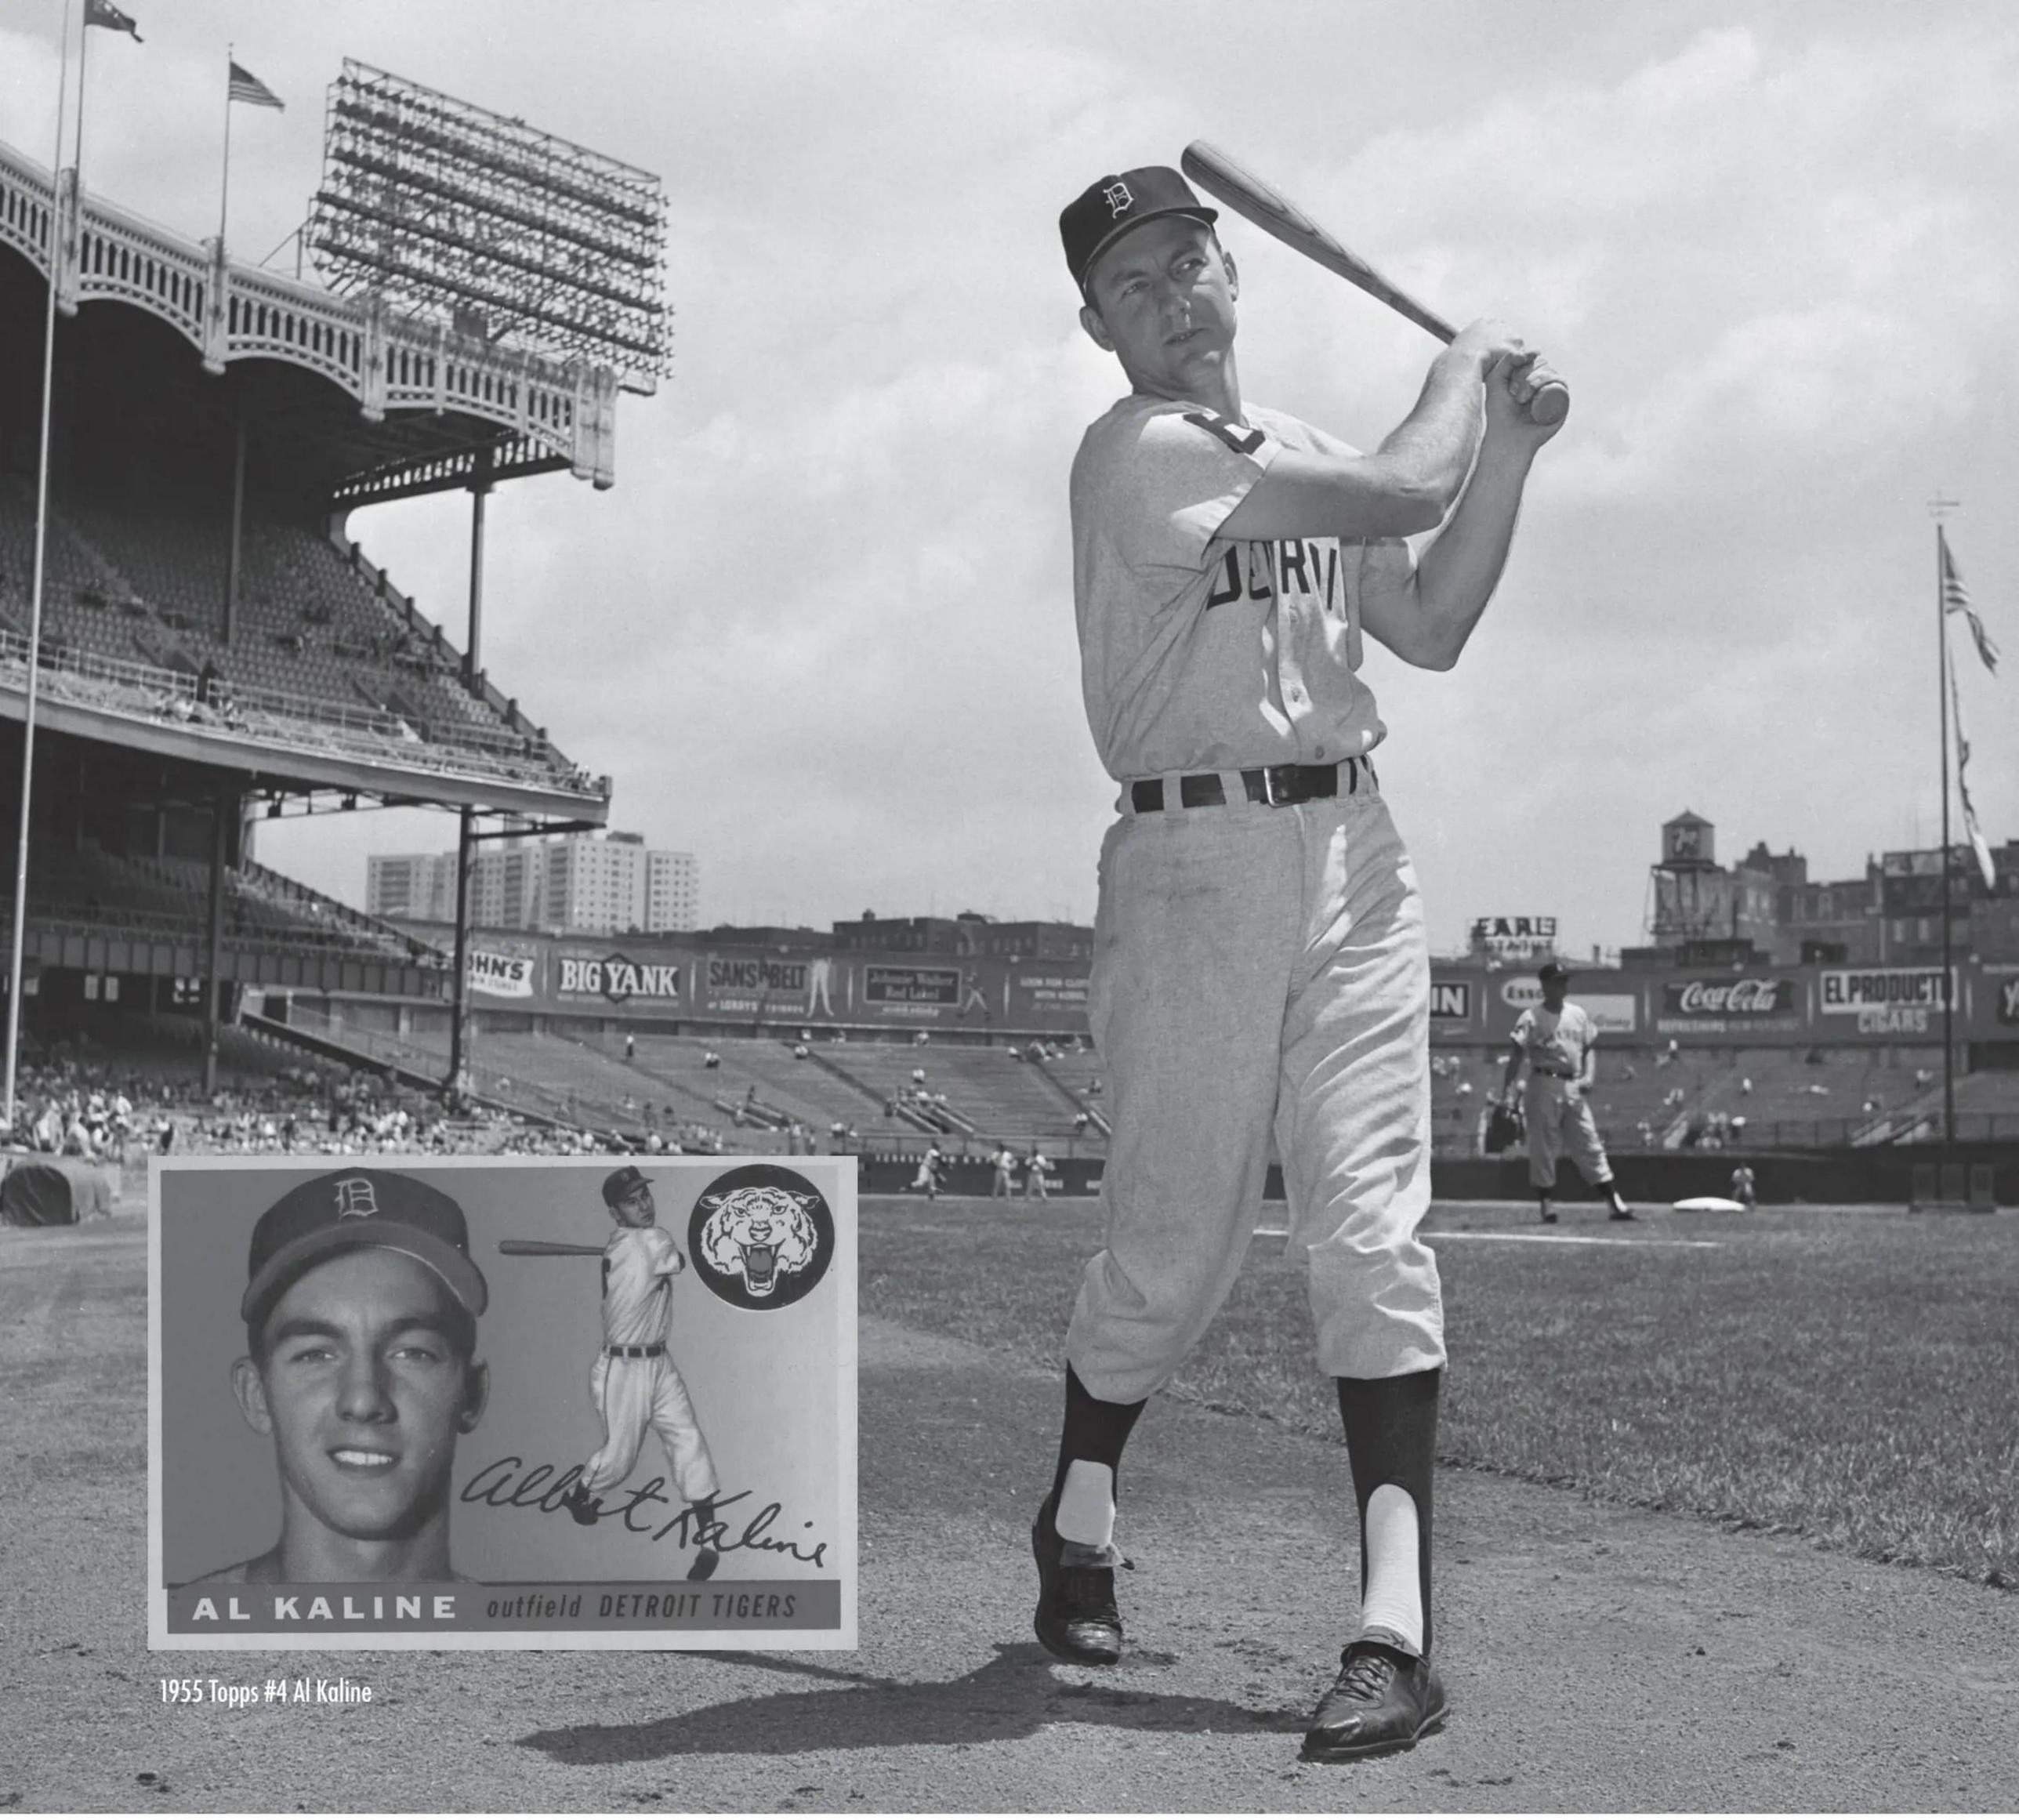
That's exactly what happens at Private Stock Hobby Shop. There's an online eBay store as well, but Salisbury loves the retail setting where regulars often come in daily, buy a few packs, hang out, watch TV, and tell stories of their collections.

Salisbury often reminisces about the years he would head out to lunch with a co-worker at the die-cast plant and they would grab a few packs of baseball cards and marvel over their finds before returning to work. That went on for years, even while Marty and Andrea were raising their family.

It was during that time that Salisbury's baseball card collection grew. As a true Michigander, he's a big Detroit Tigers fan and has collected individual cards and team sets of countless Tigers over the years. His favorite may be the 1955 Topps Al Kaline, a year after the Hall of Famer's rookie release. Salisbury has some Mickey Mantles as well and finds it difficult to give up any Tarik Skubal cards from the last few years.

Salisbury even maintains a love of basketball and hockey cards.

GETTY IMAGES



1955 Topps #4 Al Kaline

He got into hockey as one of his sons became involved in youth hockey growing up. Chances are Salisbury has more Steve Yzerman and Sergei Fedorov cards than most collectors as he accumulated his Wings cards during the franchise's 1990s and early 2000s heydays.

The one that got away might have been a late 1990s Kobe Bryant Gold Refractor that he sold for $1,000 in the midst of his mid-career and raising a family years. It's worth a lot more now depending on its rating. "That was a lot of money back then, but I wouldn't mind having that now," he says.

Many of Salisbury's favorite cards remain in their own case at Private Stock Hobby Shop, locked and under key but on display for all to see. There may not be tens of thousands of dollars' worth of cards in that case, but there probably are a hundred stories that he could tell about the cards within. And today, that's what Salisbury enjoys the most – interacting with customers, telling stories, hearing about other collections, buying and selling cards.

If he finds a Mantle for sale, Salisbury will probably keep that in his personal collection. The same goes for a Payton or Kaline in good condition. He's not looking to become rich from being an entrepreneur, but he sure is having fun.

"For me as a collector, it's more about the cool design, the player, or the story I have about a card or set," Salisbury said.

It's what led him to this place in his life: semi-retired, running a card store in Michigan surrounded by friends, family members, customers and more.

"It's like having an old barber shop," Salisbury said. "Come on in. We'll put the TV on."

And you'd better believe you will hear a story or two.

THE UNUSUAL MLB LIFE OF DAVE KINGMAN

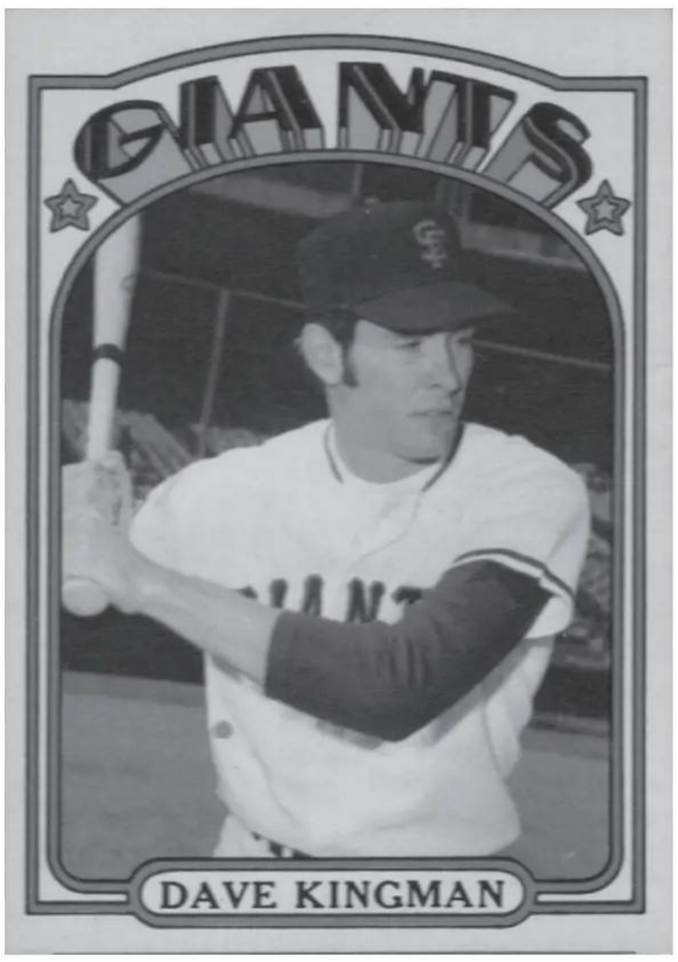
BY RYAN WRIGHT

Stealing the theme song from the popular 1980s TV show The Facts of Life, "You take the good, you take the bad, you take them both, and there you have" … Dave Kingman.

Every era of baseball has their quirky personalities that bring both good and bad attention to the game, a franchise, and an individual player. Someone that would fit in exceedingly well in the modern era, Kingman was a slugger's slugger and provided proverbial coverage for Mario Mendoza in a key statistical category. And Kingman was not without his off-the-field run-ins with members of the media that continues among active players decades later.

Kingman's early beginnings in baseball mirror much of his professional career – he was really good at a lot of things but perhaps not great at anything per se and was all over the field.



1972 O-Pee-Chee #147 Dave Kingman RC

TALENTED FROM THE START

Gaining MLB scouts' attention at Prospect High School (Mount Prospect, Ill.) as a two-way player, the California Angels selected Kingman in the second round of the 1967 draft. Kingman decided to attend Harper Junior College, later transferring to USC. Kingman was selected for a second time in the MLB Draft, this time around, in the first round by the Baltimore Orioles in 1968. The Trojans held onto their rising star, gaining big benefits.

During the 1969 season under legendary head coach Rod Dedeaux, Kingman was 11-4 on the mound for the Trojans with a 1.38 ERA. The following season, USC captured an NCAA title with Kingman getting a full season at the plate playing in the outfield. The slugger hit .355 with 9 HRs, and 25 RBI. With the first pick in the 1970 (January) Secondary Phase/ Amateur Draft, the San Francisco Giants nabbed the All-American.

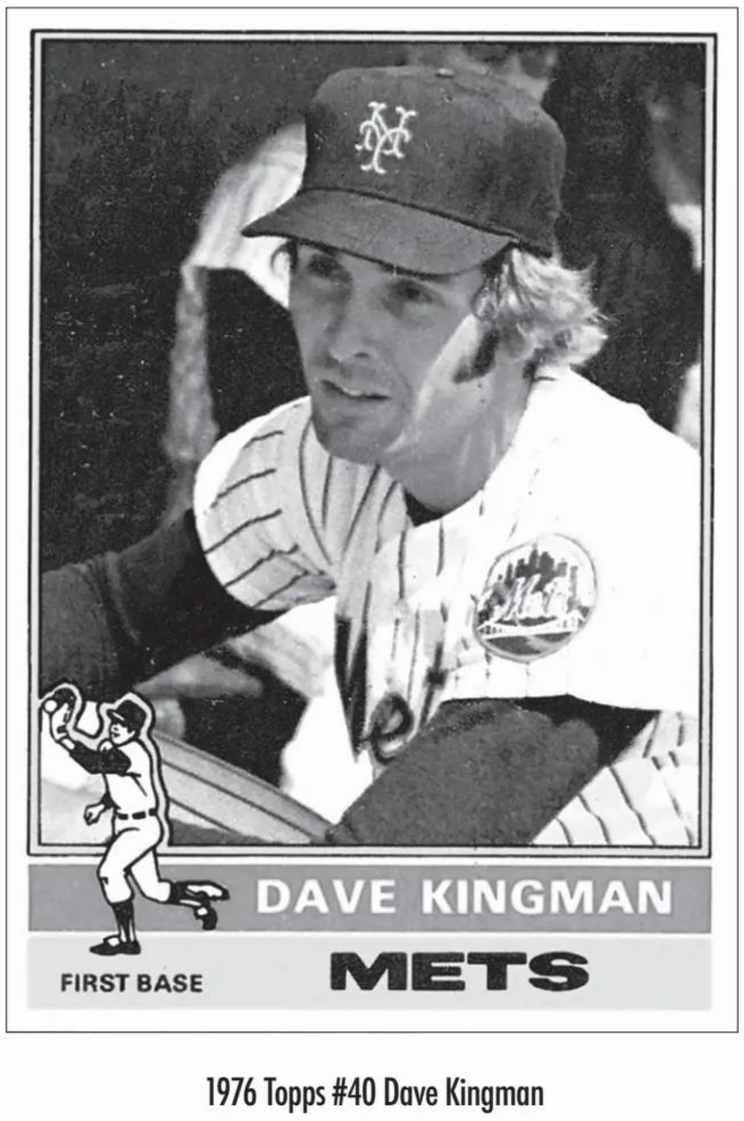
Straight from winning a national title, the Giants placed Kingman at Double-A Amarillo in 1970. Kingman ate up the pitching hitting .295 with 15 dingers in 60 games. The following season, Kingman started off at Triple-A Phoenix hitting .278 with 26 HRs and 99 RBI in 105 games before getting his MLB call up. In 1971, Kingman played 41 games with the Giants hitting .278 with six home runs.

The 1972 campaign was Kingman's first full season, and he announced his presence with authority. The 6-foot, 6-inch, right-handed batter would earn the nicknames "Sky King" and "King Kong" because of his monster longball shots, one estimated at 550 feet later in his career. The Giants got 29 homers, 17 doubles, 4 triples, and 83 RBI from Kingman in '72.

Initially utilized as a left and right fielder with games at first, the Giants tried to get Kingman's bat in the lineup on a regular basis by placing him at third base. Error prone, in '72 Kingman committed 5 at first base, 3 in centerfield, and 14 at third in 135 games played. Another thing Kingman would be known for, striking out. He averaged just over a strikeout a game (140) with the Giants.



1976 Topps #40 Dave Kingman

By 1975, the New York Mets purchased Kingman's contract. The change in scenery and in position, now fully in the outfield, led to breakout power numbers. Kingman swatted 36 homers with 88 runs driven in, but he struck out 153 times. The following season, Kingman one upped himself in the home run department with 37 while knocking in 86 and earning his first All-Star Game selection.

WHAT'S MY ADDRESS AGAIN?

Kingman's 1977 season was one for the record books. The Mets had him for 58 games before trading him to the Padres for 56 games but then he was waived and picked up by the Angles for 10 games. But wait, there's another move – Kingman ended the season with the Yankees appearing in eight games.

What's another move? The Cubbies outbid the Yankees, signing Kingman to a five-year $1.375 million deal in November of 1977.

THE FRIENDLY CONFINES

Per batting average, Kingman had his best three-year run at the plate with the Cubs hitting .266 in 1978, then .288, and .278 in 1980. The Cubs finished 80-82 in 1979, 18 games behind NL East leader Pittsburgh. But the shining star nestled into an otherwise forgettable year was Kingman. Kingman hit a career high 48 dingers with 115 RBI.

With the Cubs in 1979 and 1980, Kingman made his final two All-Star appearances.

BACK WITH THE METROPOLITANS

The Mets got Kingman back in '81. During the strike-shortened season, Kingman played in 100 games with 22 taters. A dubious record was set in '82. Kingman tied his own Mets' single-season record for home runs (37), which also led the league, but he hit just .204, a record low batting average for a league leader in home runs.

Not that he had enough plate appearances to qualify, but it was widely noted at that time that Steve Carlton, the Phillies Cy Young Award winner that year, had a higher batting average than Kingman; .218 BA in 101 at bats. Adding to it all, Kingman led the league in strikeouts for a second consecutive year (156).

A slump-riddled 1983 campaign would be Kingman's last in the Big Apple, hitting .198 with just 13 home runs.

BAY AREA POWER RESURGENCE

Now 35, the Athletics rolled the dice on Kingman getting a great return on their investment. Slotted as the team's DH, Kingman hit .268 with 35 homers driving in a career-high 118. More magic was left in the stick popping 30 in '85 and 35 in '86.

An off-the-field incident with The Sacramento Bee reporter Sue Fornoff in 1986 and the opportunity to bring Reggie Jackson back to Oakland for a farewell tour, the A's parted ways with Kingman ahead of the 1987 season.

Coming off three consecutive 30-homers or more seasons, teams passing on Kingman in 1987 was odd at best. In 1995, collusion was found by MLB team owners in Kingman's '87 forced retirement resulting in $829,000 in damages.

Through the ups and downs, Kingman blasted 442 career home runs with 1,210 driven in. Playing in 1,941 games over 16 seasons, Kingman carried a .236 BA and struck out 1,816 times.

How To Use & Condition Guide

What's Listed
Products listed in the Price Guide typically: (1) are produced by licensed major manufacturers, (2) are widely available, (3) have market activity on single cards and (4) focus on players active at the time of issue.

What the Columns Mean
The LO and HI columns reflect current retail selling ranges. The HI column generally represents full retail selling price. The LO column generally represents the lowest price one could expect to find with extensive shopping.

Multipliers
Parallel sets and lightly traded insert sets are listed with multipliers to provide values of unlisted cards. Multiplier ranges (i.e. 20X to 40X HI) apply only to the HI column. Example: If base card A lists for 20 to 50 cents, and the multiplier is "20X to 40X HI," then the parallel version of card A or the insert card in question is valued at $10 to $20.

Pricing Premiums
Some cards can trade at premium price levels compared to values listed in this issue. Those include but are not limited to: cards of players who became hot since this issue went to press, regional stars or fan favorites in high demand locally, and memorabilia cards with unusually dramatic swatches or patches.

Stated Odds and Print Runs
Odds of pulling inserts are listed as a ratio (1:12 = one in 12 packs). If the odds vary by pack type, they are listed separately. Stated odds are provided by the manufacturer based on the entire print run and should not be viewed as a guarantee by neither Beckett Media LP nor the manufacturer.

Currency
This Price Guide reflects the North American market. All listed prices are in U.S. dollars. Based on the current exchange rate, prices in Canadian dollars are 35% to 50% higher.

Grades
Mint (MT) - No flaws. Four perfect corners, 55/45 or better centering, smooth edges, original color borders and gloss; no print spots, color or focus imperfections.

Near Mint-Mint (NRMT-MT) - Must have 60/40 or better centering, smooth edges, original color borders and gloss. One of the following very minor flaws is allowed: a slight touch of wear on one corner, barely noticeable print spots, color or focus imperfections.

Near Mint (NM) - Centering of 70/30 to 60/40. In addition, one of the following minor flaws is allowed: a slight touch of wear on two or three corners, slightly rough edges, minor print spots, color or focus imperfections.

Excellent-Mint (EXMT) - Centering no worse than 80/20. No more than two of the following flaws are allowed: two or three fuzzy corners, slightly rough edges, very minor border discoloration, minor print spots, color or focus imperfections.

Excellent (EX) - Centering no worse than 80/20 with four fuzzy corners. May also have rough edges, minor border discoloration and minor print spots, color or focus imperfections.

Very Good (VG) - Handled, but not abused. Slightly rounded corners with slight layering, slight notching on edges, moderate border discoloration, some gloss lost from the surface but no scuffing. May have hairline creases.

Good (G), Fair (F), Poor (P) - Well-worn or abused. Badly rounded and layered corners, scuffing, no original gloss, major border discol-oration and serious creases.
